Land Taxes Predicted To Double For Coffee County Property Owners

By CYNDI MADDOX

Most Coffee County property owners can anticipate their taxes doubling in 1982 and in some cases being triple the amount they paid last year, as a result of another property reappraisal project.

Coffee County Revenue Commissioner Ronnie Burns, Representative Jimmy Holley, and Senator Wallace K. Miller issued the advance warning to local residents during a press conference at the courthouse in Elba on Tuesday morning.

The three officials voiced their displeasure over the tax increase and questioned the constitutionality of the reappraisal which was not voted on by the legislature. According to them, the reappraisal was ordered by State Revenue Commissioner Ralph Egerton, yet they will be the targets of angry property owners.

Holley called the reappraisal, "The most flagrant example of taxation without representation as I can think of." According to the state representative, the legislature passed no laws requesting the reappraisal.

In 1975 a federal court order was issued for Alabama to reappraise property values in an effort to equalize the taxes statewide. These new values took effect in 1977.

Egerton ordered the property values reappraised again three months ago without any consideration of the action county had a disastrous farming year last year and yet their taxes are going up even more.

The new values will take effect in October 1982.

According to the tax chart that took effect in 1975, 2.5 acres of land on a dirt or gravel road was appraised at $450 and the owner paid $3.24 in taxes. The new value of two acres will be $2,800 and the owner must pay taxes of $10.08.

Alabama held the distinction in the past of having the nation's lowest property taxes, Holley said a recent University of Alabama study showed that the state's property taxes would have to be raised by 66 percent to tie Alabama for last place among the 50 states.

"We're on the bottom as far as property taxes, even with this reappraisal, but Alabama also has state income tax and sales tax, which leaves our residents paying a lot of taxes," Holley added.

Many states, such as Texas and Florida, which have high property taxes, do not require residents to pay state income tax. Also, Florida charges no for and at whose pleasure he serves," Egerton is not an elected official, but was appointed to his position by Governor Fob James.

Approximately 400,500 reports on Coffee County property have been returned to Burns' office. He said according to the new tax schedules, almost everyone will suffer at least a 40 percent tax increase.

"Some have tripled and the majority have more than doubled," he added. "The public is going to be upset over this and I can understand why. This county had a disastrous farming year last year and yet their taxes are going up even more."

The new values will take effect in October 1982.

Under the old schedule, small tracts of land was classified according to the following locations: U.S. and state highways having the highest value, then county paved, dirt gravel, and limited access having the lowest values. The new schedule makes no distinction as to the location. (See attached schedules)

Tracts with more than 20 acres was also divided into four different location categories, but the revised rural tract schedule has only three location classifications for row crop, pasture, and woodland tracts.

An acre of prime agriculture land appraised on a paved highway and used for row crop is currently valued at $500. The reappraised value is $800 an acre.

City Council Votes To Take Bids On Street Re-surfacing Project

The Elba City Council held a brief meeting Monday evening with all members present. The meeting was ten minutes late getting started, but the agenda was short, with most of the meeting consisting of reports from various departments and on various projects. A couple of items were mentioned but action delayed until later meetings.

The council passed one motion and it was related to the resurfacing of city streets. A problem arose over which streets to target for resurfacing this year when Councilman Cleo Hawkins, who oversees the utility department also, pointed out that several streets in Brookdale were scheduled for some replacement of water lines in the coming months. Hawkins said plans were not complete, but it would be foolish to resurface a street and then go right back and dig it up to replace the water line.

Mayor Bob English entertained a motion from Councilman Sonny Inman that he (mayor), Hawkins and City Engineer Jim Williams compile a package of streets to be resurfaced, taking into consideration needs, water line work and amount of money available, get bids and submit to the council for approval or disapproval. He pointed out he was no expert on deciding which street was worse, and these people were in better position to make this decision. The motion was seconded by Councilman John Sharpless and approved unanimously. However, a discussion on the matter brought out that there was some different ideas on selecting the streets to be paved, but to expedite the bid process, all voted in favor of the motion. English stated he wanted to open bids no later than the last meeting of July. The city has budgeted $40,000 for street resurfacing this year and English said, "I think we can safely afford to spend $50- to $60,000 due to an increase in the sales tax receipts."

Sales tax received recently (from April sales) totaled $34,421 and was an increase over recent months and a decisive increase over the average.

The leaking roof at the old city hall again was discussed. English noted the city had purchased the interest of the local masonic lodge and now owned the entire building. Police Chief Ray Norris told the council, "When it rained one day in Elba it rained three days in the police department." He said they had been upstairs and observed the leaks and they were numerous.

English and Hawkins reported they had looked at the roof and it was in poor shape. Sharpless said he wanted to look at alternatives to replacing the built-up roof, but was told this was impractical. Councilman Charles Kennett noted he had some experience with repairing this type roof and that there were no contractors in Elba with training and equipment to do such work. He named several firms with the reputation for expert work in this field.

The council approved a motion to accept bids on replacing this roof with bids to be opened at the last meeting of July.

A letter from the National Peanut Festival was presented to the council with a request for furnishing a float in the October 24, 1981, parade in Dothan. Inman expressed opposition to spend-

Brainstorms

BY GERRY COX

Harry Jacobs has just about completed a major remodeling job at the local Dairy Queen. He did a lot of planning and had it all figured out that by planning his work and working his plan, the business would only be closed for two days. . . well, it didn't exactly work that way. However, he is over the business-stopping part of the job and is back open for business, and promises the newly-remodeled facility will allow his efficient staff to be even more efficient, and the net results will be that the public will get better and faster service.

Tuesday night a youngster asked if we knew how to spell his name. While trying to figure out what kind of trap he was setting for a country boy editor, his charming mother began explaining we had misspelled his name in the paper recently. Well, while she was working her charm and the father was trying to get the whole bunch into the car because he was hungry and wanted supper. . . son #1 "accidentally" smeared a batch of the mud collected from the Dixie Youth (or T-Ball) field on our arm and giggled. While mother sputtered in embarrassment we resolved aloud never to spell that young man's name correctly again. In fact we like his dad's suggestion that it forever be spelled backwards, and so. . . Yellish Yuhshol - your name is mud - red mud!

Before we sit back and relax while the Alabama Public Service Commission argues Bell Telephone rates, we need to look at the whole picture. While it is true those of us getting service from General Telephone won't be directly paying any rate increase given to Ma Bell, the ripples will be felt a long way, and pretty soon those increases will be showing up either on your personal telephone due to "me too" rate applications or through increases in indirect ways.

The debate over the bombing of the nuclear plant in Iraq by our Jewish friends in Israel is still going on and will continue for some time. Now we can't fully understand the mutual distrust the Jews and Arabs have for each other, but it is a fact it exists. Regardless of our sympathy for either the Arabs or the Jews, we must admire the precision with which the Israeli military conducts business. When they start a project it is so well-planned they appear to carry out each part with the precision of a watch. Look back. . . they got their hostages, they won a war in 6 days, etc.

Richard Jacobs ain't a fisherman, but car salesmen have the reputation of stretching the truth and also therefore when Richard went fishing recently and "lucked" into a few fish, he became an instant expert. He gives details on how it is done and even offers to give lessons to those desiring success. However, he pointed out that lessons could only be scheduled after 7 p.m. because he was busy selling cars until that time. . . after a few seconds of thought he added it would take a big truck to haul his fish if he tried it all day once in a while!

The professional baseball players are on strike but ye old editor hasn't lost a moment's rest worrying about professional baseball! Those poor starving ball players with their $150,000-plus salaries, expenses and meals on the road, all for a few months' work, don't leave me much room for concern. Nor do the bleeding heart club owners who agree to pay the high prices for free agents they are now moaning about. All in all, we just ain't worried about any of them.

The U.S. Supreme Court has upset some prison inmates by ruling that it is not their constitutional right to have private rooms while in jail. We were surprised at the ruling but agree with it completely.

This Saturday we are sponsoring a picture-taking event at this newspaper office. Last year the event was a tremendous success, and we are repeating it in 1981. It doesn't cost anything to have a child's picture taken and it will be published along with others in our "Citizens of Tomorrow." We will be using the same professional photographer we used last year and selected this firm and this woman because of the satisfaction on the part of the parents who brought their children in for pictures. While there is no charge and we have insisted on no pressure to buy, parents will be afforded an opportunity to buy copies of the pictures at what we are told by parents is a very reasonable price. Last year the pressure to buy was so low, we had mothers who had taken their pictures aside to look at, say, "Could they please take our money now?"

Simple Rules

Improves

Photographs

Pictures of summertime fun can be as refreshing as a dip in the pool if you follow a few simple rules.

To capture facial expressions, move in as close as possible and get on your subject's level. If you can't take a picture like this one without jumping in the pool, try a camera with a built-in telephoto lens to help you photograph the occasion from a "safe" place away from the action.

A camera with a telephoto lens helps you in these situations because you can take pictures from a moderate distance—yet capture close-up views of faces.

Here are some additional tips to help you take great photos this summer:

—Hold the camera steady and squeeze the shutter gently to avoid movement.

—Take pictures from different angles.

—Use foreground framing by aiming through a tree branch, iron fence, stone arch, etc.

—Turn the camera for vertical or horizontal pictures—whichever captures the scene best.

Finally, don't forget to get yourself in some of the pictures.

Learning Through National Living Goal Of Student Exchange Program

A colorful year of international living "down under" is available to American high school students this winter, sponsored by Youth for Understanding, a nonprofit educational organization with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Students chosen for the program will start classes in January when the Australian school year begins and will return to the U.S. in time for Christmas. They will live as members of Australian families, attend school, and experience Australia's varied culture first-hand. Approximately 125 students will be selected for the program on the basis of academic achievement and personal interviews. Applicants must have birthdates between October 1, 1963 and December 31, 1967, and a grade point average of 3.0.

To apply, students should call the YFU Regional Office at (202) 966-6808, ext. 394. The program fee of $3,965 includes round trip air fare from San Francisco. Students will pay their own way to and from the departure point. A limited number of partial scholarships are available, ranging from $250-$1,000.

Learning through international living is the main goal of all our programs," explained Susan Greene, the director of YFU's programs. Youngsters chosen for the Australian exchange will experience far more than tourists. Greene emphasized, "They will be active participants in everyday Australian life, especially family." Students will receive four orientations: one before departure, one after arrival, another three months later, and a fourth before returning home.

In the past, orientations have been combined with field trips to the Outback and tours of cities like Sydney and Canberra.

Another factor that makes adjustment easy is the Australians' legendary hospitality. As one former YFU exchange student said, "I was surprised at how friendly the people were. You sit in a restaurant or public place and people talk to you, even in big cities."

Youngsters from the U.S., Latin America, Europe, Asia, and Australia have participated in the program's 30 year history.

Money-saving tip. Save syrup from canned fruits (store in freezer). When you have enough, thicken with cornstarch and use as topping for pancakes, waffles.

SAFETY COUNCIL AWARD—Coffee County Sheriff Bruce Paul accepts a citation from Bob Kirkham, safety coordinator, for the National Child Safety Council. The plaque was presented to the sheriff's department for its cooperation in a drug and child safety program held in all the schools in the county last school year. Manuals and folder materials were distributed to students in kindergarten through sixth grades on drugs and safety.

Candace Berry Elected To Office

At Girl's State

Candace Berry, an Elba High School student, was elected to the office of city councilman during the annual session of Alabama Girls State at Huntingdon College in Montgomery last week. She also won the Federalist party's nomination for Governor of the state, losing the election by a narrow margin to Cindy St. John of Foley.

During the week Candy was actively involved in the Girl's State choir as well as singing solo's for chapel services. Her talent group placed first in the talent show.

Miss Berry was selected as one of the nine Good Citizen Girls for 1981. These girls were chosen from a group of over 260 representatives.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berry, Candy was a delegate representing Elba High School. Girls state, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, is an experiment in government, leadership and citizenship which teaches future women leaders the practical application of governing principles. Girls State provides and opportunity for public speaking, the making of life time friends and learning about the problems of state government.

Graddick Urges Response To Any Safety Recall Notices On Buicks

Attorney General Charles A. Graddick has urged owners of 1977-80 Buick Century and Regals to respond to any safety recall notices they may have received recently.

Graddick said his Office of Consumer Protection has cooperated with General Motors Corporation to alert owners of recalled automobiles to the risks involved by not responding to the notices. Those consumers will receive letters from Graddick mailed at GM's expense encouraging them to have necessary adjustments made immediately.

"One of the problems involve the bolts which attach the lower rear control arm to the frame of the vehicle," Graddick said. "The bolts may eventually break, allowing the rear control arm to drop free. If this happens while an automobile is in motion, a loss of control could result and the car could crash without prior warning," he said.

The adjustments take only a few minutes and are free to the consumer, Graddick added. "The threat of loss of life or that of a loved one should be incentive to all owners of the cars involved to have the adjustments done," he said.

Anyone with questions about the safety recalls should contact the nearest Buick dealership.

The family of Loyce Bradshaw would like to express great appreciation to all the friends and neighbors for all their love and sympathy during our recent time of sorrow.

The adjustments take only a few minutes and are free to the consumer, Graddick added. "The threat of loss of life or that of a loved one should be incentive to all owners of the cars involved to have the adjustments done," he said.

Miss Whitman Marries Mr. Mulazr

The Westside Baptist Church of Elba was the setting for a beautiful ceremony uniting Miss Kathy Renee Whitman and Mr. Richard Reese Mulazr in marriage on Saturday, June 6, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Reverend Howard Foreman, Sr. pastor of the church and Father Patrick Maher of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Prattville, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ann Whitman and the late Mr. W.H. Whitman of Elba. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mulazr of Nashville, TN, formerly of Elba.

An arched candelabra holding 15 white burning tapers fronted with an arrangement of pink, blue, green, yellow and white burning daisies interspersed with baby's breath and a small diadem provided the backdrop for the ceremony. This was accented with two half white burning tapers and a small diadem provided the backdrop for the ceremony.

The ceremony began with the lighting of the candles by Gary Mulazr and Greg Brunson.

A program of traditional nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Paul King at the organ. Accompanied by Mrs. King, Miss Lynn Hudson sang "You Light Up My Life," "We've Only Just Begun," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted by her maternal great uncle, Mr. Rufus Solomons, the bride was attired in a formal gown of silk and tulle with a full skirt and a long train. The dress featured an empire bodice with rows of beaded pearl lace. The long sheer sleeves also featured the same lace and ended in a cuff fastened at the wrist by a row of tiny satin buttons. The A-line skirt, encircled in lace, extended into a chapel train. The dress was accented by a three-tier veil of silk illusion, encircled with a wide band of lace, which fell from a Camellia headpiece of embroidered lace and seed pearls and ended in a full chapel train.

The bride carried a Colonial bouquet of white daisies fashioned from silk. Mrs. Michael Smith (Sherry) served her sister as Matron of Honor. She was dressed in a gown of apricot dotted swiss which featured a jeweled necklace, short puffed sleeves, and a slightly raised waistline encircled with a matching ribbon band and a large white ruffled-brim hat with a band of ribbon matching her dress, and carried a bouquet of multi-colored daisies fashioned from silk.

Around The Town

Mrs. Nellie Martin

***Six members of one of Elba's most progressive piano families were together on Sunday, June 7th. These sisters and brother were the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Farris. They were Mrs. Ethel Smith, Miss Eunora Farris, Mrs. Bessie Braswell and Mrs. Sara Rainer, all of Elba. However joining these four were Mrs. Farris Shoppe, of Panama City, and Mr. W. K. Farris of Montgomery.

A sixth sister, Mrs. L. A. Hutchinson of Panama City, was a bit disappointed, but her physical condition would not permit her to ride to Elba. Her vivacious and buoyant personality that was always so full of energy and good humor was regrettably missed. Other family members present were Mr. and Mrs. George Farris of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Farris of Warner Robbins, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Farris of Dothan. The charming and thoughtful Nona Cooper joined the family unit and was most helpful and assisted in the activities of the day.

The group assembled at the Country Kitchen Vegetable dining room was set up for the noon luncheon. A most flavorful meal was enjoyed by all.

After lunch the family assembled in the small private sitting room. Mr. Billy Farris reviewed many interesting accomplishments of this noted family. He showed no tendency to dwell on or brood over some unfortunate events like the passing of family members of yesterday. He mentioned many interesting facts that renewed the memory of the ones present. All members cheerfully joined in the fellowship and enjoyed reminiscing of pleasant nostalgia.

The day was too short, but the family unit was made much stronger and more memorable. The younger and the older showed love, affection, and attachment which designate the kind of feeling that binds a person to another by ties of the heart and mind.

The Farris family has always been an asset to Elba and Coffee County. May it ever remain so!

***To have a smart and handsome young man to catch two catfish out of Pea River, dress them and bring you the filet can, you beat that? Well, that's my friend, Buddy Clark!

***Mrs. Vesta Bailey of Pine Cove Drive winged her way to Austin, Texas. There she was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Crumb. The Baileys and Crumbs were military friends from years ago and the friendship continues to grow.

Completing her stay with these lovely friends, she was accompanied home by Mrs. Crumbing and Karen Sue. What nicer and quieter place for rest and relaxation than Elba - the sleepy little town on Pea River?

Nevertheless, they appeared most congenial and happy. Not once during the week did they appear bored, tired, or annoyed. Yes, you can rest assured that they will find their way back to Vesta Bailey's home in Elba.

***There's a lot of socializing in a group of China painters. Why last week Mrs. Bob Donaldson who lives on the Opp-Kinston Highway invited some of the girls that were available to come and have a Country Kitchen Vegetable dinner with her.

Her table was crowded with everything fresh from her garden. There were bowls, and bowls, and more bowls plus platters of things like corn, butterbeans, okra, potatoes, eggplants, lettuce, onion, tomatoes, and carrots, peppers, cucumbers and a few extras. You name it and there it was! Peas and peas were everyone's favorite dessert. It was a Mrs. Donaldson's special.

Showing how much they enjoyed the dinner by how much they ate were Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Caton, Colquette, and Mrs. Prescott (Althea). Well, even if Mrs. Donaldson cooked it, she too, was right in there!

Socialization included many compliments to the painter. How the china painting was progressing. One or two expressed the States popular Governor and how progressive the Regan tax program was becoming. About that time, they heard the patter of rain on the roof. Everyone became interested in the cool and refreshing change in the weather.

Quintessence prevailed. Each day's ago and Mrs. Donaldson seemed to be counting his blessings and the Donaldson's hospitality had been most abundant, and I'm sure it was included.

At this time the bride-elect presented her attendants with gifts of 14 carat serpentine gold bracelets and to her flower girl, necklace of a little flower girl. A special treat for the group was to tour the lovely gardens of Dr. and Mrs. McCrory! And you can bet everything was at its best. The lawn and beds, shrubs, plants, and even the bird feeder were most attractive. Much work was put into the variety of plants, shrubs, flowering shrubs, rose beds, and the entire landscaped area. Of course the roses were the most colorful and received the most praise. Our professional photographer, Dr. Kimmy mounted a ladder and snapped many areas of interest.

The McCrorys were perfect hosts, and joined the group for the walk back to the Pinkards. The large patio and shady yard accommodated the members for cool and refreshing goodies. ## Award-winning roses need more than 'a little attention'

By CYNDI MADDOX

When Robert and Louise Cooper began growing roses as a hobby in 1970, they started with 16 bushes in their backyard. Eleven years later they have almost 400 bushes of every variety and color imaginable, and their backyard has developed into an enormous rose garden. During the past several years, the Coopers have furnished rose arrangements to numerous parties, bridal showers, churches, and frequently send bouquets to the hospital and nursing home. In addition to giving hundreds of the sweet-smelling flowers to their friends and neighbors, the Coopers have also amassed an impressive display of trophies and awards for their roses.

Almost from the beginning of their rose growing venture, the Elba couple began exhibiting their flowers in area rose society shows. According to the rules of the American Rose Society, an exhibitor is considered a novice until he wins an award. The Coopers lost their novice title the first year they exhibited by bringing home a blue ribbon. According to Mrs. Cooper, who is now an accredited judge for the American Rose Society, a person often exhibits for years before winning the prestigious award, but they have already won four.

The queen is the highest award given in a rose show, followed by the king, and princess. After these are presented, ribbons are then awarded to other winning entries.

Preparing for a rose show is similar to preparing for any other type competitive exhibition—it takes hours of advance planning and following strict guidelines until the last minute before judging.

Since the Coopers enter shows in Enterprise, Dothan, Chipley, Montgomery, and as far away as Birmingham, it isn't simply a matter of picking a pretty bloom from the garden, sticking it in a water-filled bud vase, and keeping their fingers crossed that the bloom still looks pretty when they get to the show.

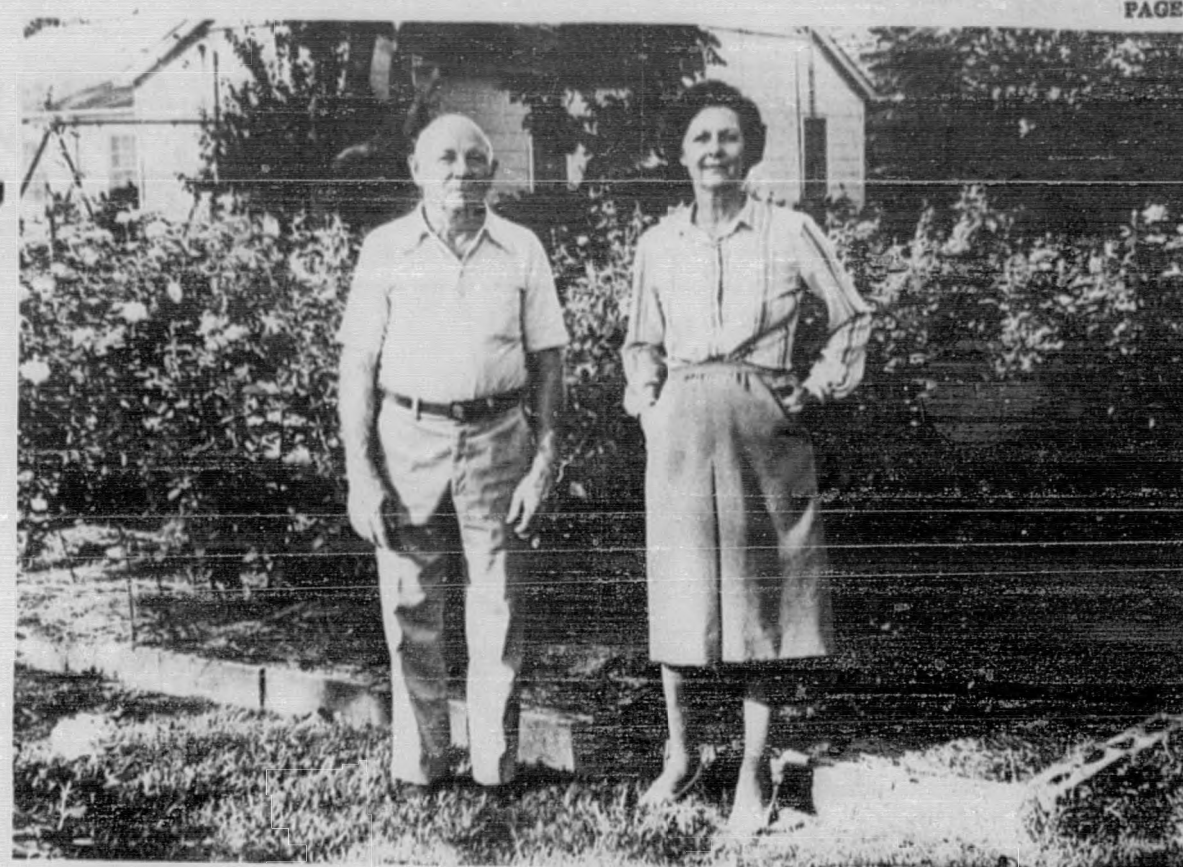

"We start four or five days before a show, going out in the mornings and evenings to cut blooms which we think might win. Usually we don't go to bed until past midnight on the night before a show and sometimes we have to get up as early as 4 a.m. to get ready to leave," explained Mrs. Cooper.

After a bloom is cut, it is washed, cleaned completely of fungicide or other residue, and the leaves are shined. "You do anything you can to enhance the beauty of the rose," The leaves can be shined with water and a cloth until the gloss reflects an image, as long as no "shining solutions or oils" are used on the entry. That automatically disqualifies the flower and Mrs. Cooper said it is easy to detect a leaf which oil has been used on. "It's amazing how much you can get it to shine just by using water," noted Robert.

The blooms are cut just as they start unfolding and, according to Mrs. Cooper, ideally the bloom should be about one-half to two-thirds open when the judge sees it on show day. The center of a queen will still be at a peak and unopened.

The Coopers carry approximately 100 blooms to a show and enter 60 or 70. To keep the entries alive and fresh, they are placed in refrigerators at 35-36 degrees Fahrenheit until time to leave. Then the blooms are placed in a "casket looking" box which Robert built. The box is also kept at about 35 degrees for the trip by using Blue ice. Rose shows are held in the spring and fall when blooms are at their highest quality. Even though roses bloom during summer, the intense south Alabama heat has a tendency to bleach the normally vivid colors and often scorch the blooms before they open.

The first queen which the Coopers won was a hybrid-tea called Royal Highness. They have won more ribbons and trophies with this pink bloom than with any of the hundreds of others. Their second queen was won with the Christine and the third with a beautiful variegated flower known as Alabama. They placed up a fourth queen with a bloom from a Color Magic bush. In addition to hybrid-teas the Coopers also grow grande-floras, flora-bundas, shrub roses, climbing roses, and miniatures, each of which Mrs. Cooper can name by looking at the bush.

The rose garden has become more than just an occasional hobby for the Coopers. According to Robert, it has developed into a full-time job for him. Since retiring as the local postmaster, he said he simply moved from one job into another. They have a regular watering, feeding and spraying schedule for the bushes. The plants are watered three times each week during the summer months with a system installed in each of the beds and are fed bi-monthly with a fertilizer specially mixed in Dothan. They use three bags of fertilizer during each feeding.

"And we spray weekly... preventive spraying—even when we don't have a special problem. It's much easier to prevent a problem than to try and get rid of one," she added. They use fungicides and insecticides similar to those used by peanut growers.

And problems have a way of cropping up in the Cooper's rose garden. "In 1973 we had around 100 bushes when the tornado came. We had gone to Montgomery that day and didn't know anything about the tornado until we got back to town," Mrs. Cooper recalled. "I had a hard chill by the time I got home. When the car lights shone on the bed, all you could see was flattened bushes. The hail had beat them to the ground."

They managed to salvage some of the bushes and started over again. But surprise tornadoes are not their only worries. Several weeks ago they noticed some of the bushes were beginning to die and for no apparent reason. A closer inspection of the garden revealed mole tunnels all over the yard. They scattered poison around and Robert borrowed a mole trap to try and get rid of the destructive animals. So far he hasn't caught anything in the contraption, but he thinks the poison may have solved the problem.

"If it's not tornadoes or hail, it's thrips, spider mites, aphids, or moles," he added. "But when you win the queen of the show it's worth all of the trouble."

After the April to October blooming season, the remaining months are spent preparing for the next year's garden. Since the majority of the Coopers' bushes reach heights of seven or eight feet, in November they top them back to four or five feet to prevent winter wind damage. The bushes are then pruned in February to only 16 to 24 inches above the ground.

Once the cold weather sets in, Mrs. Cooper starts cutting out dead canes and thinning out the beds to make way for new additions in February.

"I like to have my new ones in from the order houses and ready to plant by February."

After compost is added and the new bushes are planted, the roses are pampered until blooms begin to appear in April. Then the process of grooming the bushes for a possible queen of the show starts over again. "It's a lot of trouble," they said, "but we didn't love it we wouldn't do it."

Food Stamp Dept. Admins New Rules

Food stamp recipients who fail to meet job search requirements may be disqualified; amendments to the federal Food Stamp Act of 1977 strengthen the work provisions of the law, according to Franklin H. James, director of the Alabama Department of Industrial Relations.

Registration with the State Employment Service was previously required, but under the amendments which became effective June 1, the regulations pertaining to search for work are much more stringent. The food stamp program is jointly administered in Alabama by the State Department of Industrial Relations and the State Department of Penalties and Security.

Recipients who are determined to be "job-ready" must contact up to 24 employers within an eight-week period. The recipient must provide the State Employment Service with evidence of employer contacts.

According to James, the State Employment Service will provide labor market information.

Rev. Miller's Church Dedicates Fellowship Hall

Ceremonies were held June 14 at Glen Anthony Baptist Church in Columbus, Georgia, to dedicate the recently completed fellowship hall to the late Rev. Macon Miller, a native of Elba.

Rev. Miller served as pastor of the church from 1975 until his death in 1980. Construction of the hall began during Rev. Miller's first year at the church, but was not completed until recently.

Miller was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Miller of Elba. Among relatives who attended the dedication ceremonies were his sister, Mrs. Foy Spurlin, and her husband. Rev. Miller was presented with a plaque by the church congregation, commemorating the dedication of the hall to her late husband. Her children, Josephine Gullege and Joe Miller, also attended the event.

Several deacons and other church members delivered tributes during the ceremony to the late Rev. Miller, and a portrait of the former pastor was presented to the church.

REWARDED FOR THEIR SUGGESTIONS—Ideas on how to improve the efficiency of the company's operation resulted in two employees at National Security Insurance Company receiving bonuses. President Jack Brunson presents a check for $100 to Molly Stetler (center) and $100 to Beverly McDaniel for their suggestions. Mrs. Stetler suggested that routine examinations be conducted of all in-force files to check for errors. Since initiating these examinations, company officials said they have realized a substantial savings. Mrs. McDaniel's suggestion was to print a note on all bills, urging customers to include their policy numbers on all check or money order payments. Both employees work in the Policy Owner Service Department.

Bee stings can be fatal to victim within minutes

The venom of a bee, wasp or hornet contains toxins or chemicals which tend to break down the red blood cells in the body. The pain caused by a sting is largely due to the histamine which is contained in the venom. The main danger lies in the possible shock which may result from multiple stings or in the severe allergic reaction which sometimes follows a sting.

For persons not allergic to bee stings, a single sting may require nothing more than the application of an ice-pack for a few minutes until the pain subsides, according to the Southeast Alabama Emergency Medical Service. A honey bee, however, leaves its stinger in the wound. The stinger needs to be carefully removed. In addition, an antihistamine, such as a cold tablet, may help to counteract the histamine in the bee's venom, thus relieving the discomfort.

Multiple stings can be quite serious, resulting in excessive accumulation of fluids in the body, severe circulatory illness and even shock due to the amount of venom injected. In the case of multiple stings, first-aid procedures must include steps to combat shock. To do this, wrap the victim in a blanket to keep him warm, and elevate his feet.

Bee venom is one of the most powerful "allergy stimulants" known and for some people, a single bee sting may cause giant hives all over the body, obstruct the mucous lining of the voice box and make breathing difficult, or bring about a profound degree of shock characterized by rapid pulse, collapse and a sudden fall in blood pressure. When this happens, no time must be lost in getting medical aid to the victim. This kind of allergic shock, known as anaphylaxis, can be fatal to the victim in a matter of minutes.

Unfortunately there are no emergency first-aid measures that can help the anaphylactic shock victim unless there is certain medication available.

The Southeast Alabama Emergency Medical Services Council recommends that a person who has anything more than brief pain and localized swelling following a bee sting should have his skin tested by a physician to determine hypersensitivity.

Aimed at speeders Troopers start crackdown

Alabama State Troopers are stepping up their efforts to rid the highways of speeding traffic and drunken drivers. This is a result of an increase in traffic fatalities this year.

"After taking a close look at the appalling rural traffic death increase during the first five months of this year, I am asking that all Alabama State Troopers increase efforts to identify, stop and arrest speeders and drunken drivers," said Colonel Jerry Shoemaker, Alabama Department of Public Safety director.

"I am also asking that individuals play a more active role in accident prevention by reporting dangerous driving to the nearest law enforcement agency," Col. Shoemaker said.

According to the Director of Public Safety, there have been fewer rural traffic accidents this year, but more people have been killed. "We are very concerned about this, especially as the greatest increase in rural traffic deaths has occurred during the past two months," he added.

Between April and May 31, the number of rural traffic accidents has decreased by approximately 1,800. During this time period, there have been 35 more people killed on the same two months last year, 116 this year as compared with 81 last year.

"Part of the reason for the increase in rural traffic deaths is that more drivers are disregarding the 55 mph speed limit," Shoemaker explained. He also said a higher number of accidents involve drivers under the influence of alcohol and another factor is the small vehicle-large vehicle traffic mix on the highways.

During this two-month period in 1980, there were 21 fatal accidents involving excessive speed. This year, there have been 30. During the same period in 1980, there were 11 fatal accidents involving an intoxicated driver and this year there have the temperature is automatically raised. The temperature is then adjusted back to normal during business hours.

The heating and cooling system is designed not only to conserve energy, but also to make the sales area comfortable for the customers. The air is returned to the air handling unit by underfloor ductwork, which means the coolest air in the store is returned, making it less necessary to cool during the air conditioning season, and also during the heating season. It draws warm air to the floor for comfort.

Piggly Wiggly's lighting system is the newest concept in supermarket lighting. It provides a soft atmosphere for the customer, provides adequate illumination, yet is an energy conserving lighting. Each light fixture contains a 400 watt metal halide bulb and a 400 watt high pressure sodium bulb. These bulbs, with the light directed at the ceiling, provides an illumination similar to incandescent, which is dispersed softly through the sales area.

Other energy efficient features in the store are additional insulation; positive interior pressure to prevent non-conditioned outside air from coming into the store; fresh air intake into the deli exhaust system; an energy efficient refrigeration compressor system; and hot gas defrost for refrigerated cases.

Energy Tips

During this summer, use the kitchen, bath and other ventilating fans sparingly when using the air-conditioning unit. In just one hour these fans can blow away a houseful of cooled air.

If you are thinking about installing a central air-conditioning unit, select one with the lowest suitable capacity and the highest efficiency. A large unit that is needed not only costs more to run, but probably won't remove enough moisture from the air in your home.

Whenever possible, cook and use other heat-generating appliances in the cooler early morning and late evening hours to help reduce the amount of energy required to cool the house during summer months. For more information on reducing energy consumption, contact the Alabama Energy Extension Service's energy "Hotline" from anywhere in the state by dialing, toll-free, 1-800-452-5901 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

A light-colored roof on a house will reflect the sunlight and help prevent heat buildup during the summer, thereby putting less of a strain on air-conditioners.

Fireplaces can be used to help cool a home by opening the damper when air-conditioning units are not in use to allow hot air to escape up the chimney.

VIEWS FROM THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz
Sports Editor

I took a couple of days off last week for a brief honeymoon and decided to leave my column on the shelf for a week. Well, I am an old married man now and, I guess it's time to get back to work.

Last week's decision to strike major league baseball couldn't have come at a better time for the Atlanta Braves. The Braves played 3 games in Montreal and got beat 12-1, 11-2 and 7-0, so I'm sure they can use a couple of days off. Now, if they'll just practice a little --!

Several years ago at the state basketball tournament I was the only sportswriter in attendance to vote for Glenn Marcus for the MVP in Class 3A, and the public address announcer put emphasis on the fact that the player selected for the honor was an "almost unanimous" selection. Last week Marcus was picked in the NBA draft, while the other guy's name was nowhere to be found. I knew all along he was the best.

We had some strange happenings last week in both softball and baseball action. In softball, the Legal Eagles were playing when Jackie Lewis injured her ankle and had to leave the game. The problem was - Jackie was on base when she got hurt and her team didn't have a pinch-run. Well, to the rescue came teammate Becky Smart, who was in the stands with a broken ankle she suffered at a game last week.

Becky wasn't able to walk, let alone run, but she hobbled out to the base and the game resumed. (By the way, she was forced out at second.) Not wanting her team to be short-handed, Becky went in at catcher in the bottom of the inning and gave it all she had. Becky is a good sport and a good player, and she's off to her for helping her team despite her injury. Good show!

Over in the Babe Ruth Baseball League we had a "triple play" by the Dodgers. The A's loaded the bases in the inning and appeared ready to score a bunch of runs, only to be stopped in a matter of seconds. Here's what happened: Scotty Sullivan ripped a line drive which was snagged by third baseman Dewayne Fleming. All the baserunners thought the ball was through the infield and broke toward the next base, so Fleming simply tagged third and threw to first for a triple play. Man, those triple plays will kill a rally every time!

The men's softball league has been divided into two divisions, and the second half of the season has already started. The competition will be hot and heavy in every game, because any team can win on any given night. Go out and see a game in either division - it's sure to be a good one.

The N.B.A. draft was held last week and the Atlanta Hawks came out with some good picks. The Hawks got Al Wood of North Carolina, Clyde Drexler of DePaul, Durand Macklin of LSU and Steve Krafchin of Iowa, all top quality players who should help the Hawks right away. Maybe we'll have a better show on Channel 17 this fall!

It's been quite a year for New Brockton's Coach Cole! First, his team won the state championship in Class 2A, then he was named Coach of the Year in the state and head coach for this summer's All-Star game and then he got scholarships for all 4 of his senior starters. Not bad; however, the best has just arrived. He learned last week his wife would give birth to their first child some time next fall. Yessir, it'll be a year he won't soon forget.

Doodle Bugs Win In

Girl's Softball

The Doodle Bugs upped their record to 2-0 Monday night by defeating the Lady Bugs 16-9. In the season opener last week the Doodle Bugs won 34-9.

Deanne Bogan got 5 hits to lead the winners, while Vicki Berry, Sabrina Reed, Whitney Wise and Gail Robinson all added 2 hits. Simmons and Wendy both got 2 hits for the Lady Bugs.

Dodgers Open 2 Game Lead In Babe Ruth

The Dodgers continued their winning ways and the White Sox remained in a tailspin as the Babe Ruth Baseball League season continued its action last week. The Dodgers, winners of 3 straight games, now own a 5-1 record, and are 2 games ahead of the second-place White Sox, who stand at 3-3, after absorbing 3 straight losses. The A's follow at 2-4, as do the Reds, also with a 2-4 slate.

The A's moved ahead in the third inning and then took command as they buried the Reds 13-3. The A's held a slim 2-1 lead after two innings, only to see the A's come to life and blow the game open. Duke McKenzie collected 3 hits to pace the A's, while Tim Dyess, Craig Murdoch and Scotty Sullivan all added 1 hit. Wayne Jackson, Mick Phillips and Keith Daniels got 1 hit each for the Reds. The A's got only 6 hits, but took advantage of 11 errors to roll to the win.

Dodgers 8
White Sox 5

The Dodgers moved into sole possession of first place by dumping the White Sox 8-5. The Dodgers jumped into an early 3-0 lead and stretched it to 6-2 as they combined 4 hits with 14 walks to move ahead for good. Tim Williamson, Dewayne Fleming, Erwin Gunnels and Tim Caldwell all got 1 hit for the Dodgers, while Art Brunson and Kirt McCollough got the only six hits.

The Mets combined 6 hits with 14 walks and 10 errors to blast the Tigers 25-4. The Mets led 12-2 after 3 innings and broke loose for 13 runs in the fourth to roll, or walk, to the win.
